

Fair Play Rules and Principles

The co-ed and adult rec indoor soccer league was created in order to offer adults the opportunity to play soccer in a recreational environment, while at the same time offering a great social experience. The focus of the game is on finesse, skill, and strategy rather than brute force.

For the coed league, co-ed sports require that all male participants remember that male players may have a strength and speed advantage over female players. As well, more skilled players (male or female) must remember to not be aggressive and instead be helpful, respectful and patient as you will be playing with beginners or less-proficient players. This is not a "win at all costs" league.

Our league expects that ALL participants demonstrate safe and fair game play, positive attitudes, team participation and good sportsmanship to teammates, fellow players and referees at ALL times. This will be referred to as playing with the "proper fair play spirit" of co-ed participation.

Therefore, any player (male or female), that in the opinion of the co-ed rec league management, does not demonstrate the proper fair play spirit of co-ed participation, will be removed from league participation at the league coordinator's discretion. This determination shall be final and is not open to appeal nor refunds.

FAIR PLAY PHILOSOPHY

What is the co-ed rec fair play philosophy?

- RECREATIONAL soccer for FUN and SPORTSMANSHIP
- Playing soccer for a GOOD TIME, to LEARN the game, IMPROVE skills and most of all, SOCIALIZE with your teammates and other players
- Act as a GOOD SPORT at ALL times
- Be GENEROUS when you win; be GRACEFUL when you lose
- SHARE your knowledge and experience with fellow players
- Have EVERYONE on your team participate in the play
- Maintain your SELF-CONTROL at all times and ensure SAFETY for fellow players
- Show RESPECT for the referees by accepting their decisions
- Meet new people and new friends
- Be a TEAM PLAYER not an individual

Player Signature

Date

submit forms to KangArena 70389 Bravo St., Covington, LA 70433